

I strongly oppose the proposed rule changes.

Media products in our country are already alarmingly homogeneous.

We need more diversity and the opportunity for local and regional voices to be heard.

The FCC is supposed to operate in the public interest - the public doesn't want to know only what comes from "editorial board central" of the media conglomerate that owns their local paper, all the TV stations, and half the radio stations in their town!